EINDHOVEN

The City of Light Eindhoven is located in the southeast of the province of North Brabant and has more than 200,000 inhabitants. This makes it the 5th largest city in the Netherlands. Eindhoven has traditionally been an industrial city and is known for, among others, Philips, DAF and PSV. Eindhoven is now also known as a university city with the Technical University, the Design Academy and various colleges. Today, partly due to the High Tech Campus, Eindhoven is the center of technology in the south of the Netherlands. Eindhoven is served by various highways (A2, A50, A67) and with Eindhoven Airport, this Brabant city is also easily accessible by plane. A bustling city where annual events such as the Dutch Design Week, the Eindhoven Marathon and the International light festival GLOW attract thousands of visitors.
